

Above are common phrases our 4Youth community used to describe Ritter and his character.

Following the news that the actor Paul Ritter, who played the iconic role of Martin Goodman in Friday Night Dinner, sadly passed away, we spoke to our 4Youth community about their favourite Paul Ritter and Martin Goodman moments. Ritter's Character in Friday Night Dinner appears to resonate with many of our youth community, they describe him as the perfect embodiment of their own "cringey" dads and find him relatable to that of their own family dynamics. Friday Night Dinner is a show that brings people together and that they enjoy watching with others. Our community spoke about the fond memories they had of watching it alongside their friends and family.

What is your favourite Paul Ritter or Martin Goodman TV moment?

"I've always been such a massive Friday Night Dinner fan and I have to say I think Martin is easily the funniest character on the show. His general confusion and sarky humour really pulled the family dynamic together in such an enjoyable way."

"Literally any time he appeared with his shirt off. It made me laugh every single time because it's such a dad thing to always be hot for no reason. Me and my boyfriend watched every episode together and Paul's character always made us laugh the most."

"My favourite part of Martin Goodman's character is when he'd drag Jonny and Adam into the downstairs toilet to let them in on his secrets. The episode where he's on a diet so he hides cheese in the toilet tank to have a snack is one of my favourites!"
